VAMPED TO THE TUNE OF $40,000 AGED MOUNTAINEER DEMANDS A DEED

ALTHOUGH THE NIGHTS WERE COOL SHE WORE LINGERIE

He Rubbed Her Back to Relieve Her Rheumatism—and She Married Him. Mountain Hermit Goes to Court.

'Twas in a lonely mountain canyon, scene fit for the operations of a "Cave Woman," that the romance of Joseph Pollard, age 70, known as "Happy Jack" of Lytle Creek and reputed to be rich, was laid, but that he woman he met employed the arts of the time-worn "vamp" of the sinful cities instead of the cave methods the wild region might have prompted, is intimated by Pollard in a sensational suit he filed in the superior court at San Bernardino on Tuesday, seeking to recover title to his $40,000 ranch, situated a mile above the Glenn ranch, and admittedly the finest property in the canyon. Pollard developed the ranch from its original condition.

That he was alone in the lonely region back in 1913, when the present Mrs. Pollard, age 48, arrived, is related by Pollard in the graphic description of the scenes of love and alleged intrigue.

According to Pollard, the woman who became his wife "established herself in said canyon purposely to become acquainted with him and in some manner to obtain title" to his $40,000 ranch.

For many years Pollard has been known as the "Happy Hermit" of Lytle Creek. Although his hospitality is known to many hundreds, none ever penetrated the veil of mystery that surrounds him.

Immediately after the defendant established herself in the canyon, reads the complaint, she made herself acquainted, frequently visited the home of Pollard, cooked meals for him—such meals that he had not seen in many long years of a lonely life, and "prepared delicacies of a tempting character." She was, says Pollard, "a woman of great intellect, and her dream of love is shattered, 'in every way to incur his good-will and friendship.'"

Then, at an opportune time in the romance, the attractive woman of the neighboring ranch moved a piano into her home, "and frequently invited the plaintiff to visit her there, where she was living all alone."

"As time wore along his friendly woman friend was stricken with rheumatism, and Pollard responded to the call of distress, he relates. He rubbed her back—at her earnest appeal so says Pollard—but her pain spread.

It was late in the summer of 1913, and the night may have been chilly. She wore negligee.

It was the coming of autumn that led the way to the wedding altar, after Pollard had "frequently hesitated" but was "finally persuaded by the defendant that they should be married."

And they were married, so the story goes, on October 30, 1913, at San Bernardino.

But—

"About the time of the marriage the defendant also persuaded the plaintiff that in order that no one would have any claim upon the property except herself in case of Pollard's death, he should sign a deed to it," so reads the complaint, and "that upon the day of marriage, and at the instance and persuasion of the defendant, she took him to the office of an attorney in San Bernardino and instructed the attorney to prepare a grant deed to the property."

Pollard declares he signed the deed without any intention of delivering the deed to any one. Although he lived in the lonely wilds he knew what constituted a transfer—delivery of the deed. To the deed he clung, so he declared, and after the honeymoon locked it safely in a chest at his mountain home, "with-out disclosing its whereabouts to the defendant, or any one."

And there, he says, he supposed it reposed in safety, long after the dreams of romance were shattered, and Mrs. Pollard departed in February, 1919.

Then came another awakening, so says Pollard, although he indicates that he awoke from his dream of love shortly after the marriage. A friend told him his wife had long since recorded the deed, that he made a search in April, 1919, and found that it had been recorded since November 13, 1917.

Pollard knows not how the deed disappeared from his mysterious chest containing his wealth.

He pleads that on account of his age and because of the inconvenience and the fact that he had not business relatives or friends anywhere except in the mountains, and comes to the valley once or twice each

SENIOR CLASS PLAY TO BE "SHERWOOD"

SWIMMING TEACHER TALKS TO CHAFFEY STUDENTS AT ASSEMBLY

Junior College Commencement to Be Held on Friday, June 20th. Hard Drilling Done in Preparation for Parade Today.

Plans for the senior class night play are coming along fine. The selection that has been decided on for that night is "Sherwood," a very beautiful play, calling for great elaboration of both costume and stage setting, as well as graceful and careful acting. Under Mrs. Conger's excellent direction, the play is speedily progressing and as conditions are now, the public is sure of hearing an unusually pleasant play.

The cast of "Sherwood" motored to Santa Monica last week to see the high school's production of this play there. They all report that it was certainly pretty and interesting, and they hope to be able to give as good a production here at Chaffey. Considering the beautiful new scenery which is being painted at the present time, the seniors' production is sure to be a success. And the cast are hard at work rehearsing every night on the stage.

Mrs. Franklin, a representative of the society for the Fatherless Children of France, talked to the students of Chaffey last Friday in an assembly. She proved a very interesting speaker and very ably presented the work needed in that war-stricken country of France and the great response to the urgent call by the young people of America. Mrs. Franklin concluded her address with an appeal for money from the Chaffey students for this worthy cause.

Mr. Humm also addressed the students on the subject of swimming. Mr. Humm is an American Red Cross instructor in swimming and life saving, and this expert swimmer has been presented with the Red Cross Medallia, a medal which means that Mr. Humm has passed the swimming and life saving tests given by the society. He talked very interestingly on the different strokes a swimmer should know and the purpose of the different strokes; the difference in swimming caused by salt or fresh water, etc.; and the advisability of every Chaffey student learning the principles of life saving.

Drilling of strictest kind has been gone through by the students, both girls and boys, training them for the marching of the students in the great Welcome Home Day on Ontario.

Have you had your swim yet at Chaffey? Better not miss it. Swimming contests have been going on in the plunge lately and the building is open every afternoon to the students.

Miss Bissell, "Company commander," very delightfully entertained the Junior College "Drill Sergeants" last Saturday evening. A picnic dinner was served the girls on the Pomona college campus and then they all enjoyed the delightful May Masque given by the college in the Greek theater.

Junior College commencement is Friday the twentieth. The program planned a very excellent one, he-sides being entirely different from any usual commencement night. The first part of the evening will be music by members of the Junior College, some of the best of Chaffey's talent; the latter part of the program will be taken up with a short, and very unique, play by the class. This play was given for the high school students once before and was so successful that the cast have been persuaded to produce it again for the general public. It is spoken of as being one of the most clever and artistic productions ever given on the Chaffey stage. Its name is "Six Who Pass While the Lentils Boil."

NAZARENES MEET IN ANNUAL ASSEMBLY

The people of Upland Nazarene church are busy making preparation for their annual District Assembly, which is to be held June 18th to 23rd. About 300 delegates are expected, including most of the best deaconesses, pastors, and evangelists both from this district and outside. Daily services will begin at 9 a. m. and 2 p. m.; these will be devoted to business while the evening meeting at 7:30 will consist of singing, special music, and preaching.

year, he had no way of becoming aware that the deed had been recorded.

Attorneys J. P. Devin and Frank A. Jeffers, of Roche, Jeffers & Devin, were in San Bernardino Tuesday to file the action. Mr. Devin was formerly in business in San Bernardino.

It was declared that Attorney Charles L. Allison, who drew up the deed, was told by Pollard that he did not intend to deliver the deed, that it was to serve as his will.

COUNCIL PUZZLED OVER IMPROVEMENT

GET DOGGIE A LICENSE TAG OR THE DOG CATCHER WILL GET HIM

Do Euclid Avenue Property Owners Want a Narrow Roadway on East Side of Avenue? Matter Before Council Monday.

Euclid avenue and the proposed improvement of same was the main topic before the city council Monday evening, for the members are in a quandary as to just what the people on Euclid want in the way of an improvement.

A committee from the chamber of commerce recently interviewed all resident property owners along the avenue to get their opinion on improving the avenue, the result of which was that the committee found the vast majority wanted the work done. The estimated cost to property owners as given by the committee was as follows:

For third ten acres from Euclid avenue on east side $180, second ten from Euclid on both sides of avenue, $470, and for the first ten both sides avenue, $570.

As the above figures are based on the plan of making the roadway on the east side of the avenue more narrow than the driveway on the west side, and the city council finds that if the roadway on the east side is made as wide as that on the west side it will increase the above estimated cost by 23 per cent.

The question before the council is: Do the people along Euclid avenue want the east roadway narrower than the west roadway? No action was taken Monday night, but indications are that further conferences with property owners will be had before definite plans are adopted.

Get Doggie's Tag

If you haven't bought a license for that dog of yours, better buy one as the city council has ordered Officer Sawyer to employ a dog catcher and enforce the dog license ordinance that the city may be rid of the dog mania that roams the streets.

FORESTRY BOARD IS NAMED BY CO. BOARD

Appointment of the county forestry commission to study a plan for the planting of trees to serve as wind breaks in some portions of the county and for landscape beautification in other sections, was made by the board of supervisors Monday.

John Ralph, Jr., of San Bernardino; W. M. Bristol of East Highland; R. B. Peters of Devore; J. O. Mills of Ontario and W. W. Cooke of Chino were named.

They will serve without compensation and the forester they will select will likewise serve without pay, the supervisors decided.

The appointments followed a request by delegates representing many organizations in all parts of the county that an organized effort at proper tree planting be made, and that the county officials direct the project.

The supervisors made no promise of financial appropriation, and announced there would be none provided during the next fiscal year.

For Booster Exhibit

Representatives of the chambers of commerce of all cities and towns in the county will meet with the board of supervisors on June 16, to outline plans for the placing of an up-to-date and comprehensive exhibit in the county's space at the Los Angeles chamber of commerce building. This county pays $25 a month for exhibit space and the present exhibit is obsolete. There are facilities for handling 160 pictures and these will be pro-rated to various communities.

To Halt Road Damage

In an effort to halt the damaging of concrete and macadam county highways by the hauling of harvest, discs, trucks without tires and other machinery, the supervisors requested the traffic officers, sheriff's force and road men to arrest persons violating the law by dragging machinery that damages the surface of the highways.

Ask Company to Build Road

Following a conference between the supervisors and Fred Jeken, district ranger, the Bear Valley Development company was requested to at once construct a road on the north side of Bear Lake extending from Fawnskin to the dam. It developed there was a road on 1884 until the time the new dam was built and the lake enlarged, and one of the conditions of the government permit for the enlargement of the lake was that roads that might be covered by water be rebuilt on higher ground.

The forestry department is interested in the road as a route for fire fighters should a forest fire start in the region the road will penetrate.

B. C. SHEPHERD OF ONTARIO SUMMONED

In the death last Friday of Benjamin Shepherd at his home, No. 522 North Laurel avenue, after an illness of two weeks, Ontario loses one of its earliest and best known pioneers.

Mr. Shepherd was 68 years five months and six days of age at the time of his death and had made Ontario his home for the better part of 36 years, having come here from Belleville, Canada.

In the early days, Mr. Shepherd was prominently connected with the San Antonio Water company, having served as its secretary for a number of years. Of late years he had not been active in public or business life.

Mr. Shepherd is survived by his widow, two daughters, Miss Frances Shepherd, at home, and Mrs. Truman Temple of Pasadena; two sons, B. Chaffey Shepherd, Jr., of Pomona, and Fern, at home. All the children were at their father's bedside when the end came.

The funeral was held Monday morning at 9 o'clock at Christ Episcopal church with the Rev. Richard H. Gushie in charge.

Fifteen thousand sheep will be sheared in Central Oregon this year. A considerable new acreage in Clatsop county Oregon, is being set to cranberries.

PRINCIPAL M. E. HILL TALKS TO TRUSTEES

SAYS TRUSTEES LARGELY RESPONSIBLE FOR QUALITY OF SCHOOL

Mrs. Grace Stanley and E. W. Fischer Also Make Helpful Talks to Assembly. Many Educators in Attendance.

To strengthen and encourage rural schools through the aid of supervision from the high schools of the county was the work taken up for discussion at the meeting of the school trustees of the county Monday. The meeting was held at the Technical school and was attended by representatives from practically every school district in San Bernardino county.

The morning was devoted to a review of the new school laws which will be in effect during the coming school year. Mrs. Grace Stanley, county superintendent of schools, who presided, took up the matter of the new laws in detail. It provides that $900 shall be the basis for the teachers and that $10 shall be given per capita for the average daily attendance.

Mrs. Stanley has carefully considered the income of all of the districts and she recommended that a minimum of $90 per month be paid and urged that where possible more should be given.

Last year the basis for the teachers was $550 and the amount allowed per capita for the average daily attendance was $13. The raise in salaries is the only thing that will secure teachers for many of the outlying districts, Mrs. Stanley stated.

Many of the teachers are giving up their places to go into homes of their own and others have gone into different professions. The number of normal and college graduates is very much lower than usual this year.

Following Mrs. Stanley's splendid talk, Jay B. Nash, superintendent of recreation of the Oakland city schools, made a most comprehensive address on the physical education program for the schools. He took up in some detail the question of necessary equipment for the playground. He told of the state program and something of the necessity of thorough instruction along the lines of physical education.

In his talk Mr. Nash inspired the trustees and directors of the schools to further efforts along the line of gymnasium training.

M. E. Hill, of the Chaffey Union High School, opened the afternoon session which followed a luncheon served at the Chocolate Palace. Mr. Hill is a man with a broad vision and something of his enthusiasm and his aspirations for the education of the children of this county was given to his hearers in his splendid address and the comprehensive manner in which he answered the questions of those gathered at the meeting.

After stating his belief that the trustees and the board of education were directly responsible for the kind of a school to be found under their management, Mr. Hill took up the advantages of the small districts uniting.

Through the consolidation of the smaller rural districts the advantages of the city schools are gained and the clean open life and other features of the country schools are still retained. It is Mr. Hill's idea to have high schools in the county cooperate with the rural districts and give them the advantages of specialized instruction which they would be unable to gain in any other way.

Through the association of trustees which has recently been formed between Chaffey Union High School and the surrounding districts it has been provided that the high schools fulfill the following agreements:

First—That the new districts shall not be held by any of the bonded indebtedness which was already in existence.

Second—That the high school shall establish a deciduous experiment station with a field expert in charge who should teach at the school and also aid and counsel the ranchers.

Third—That free transportation to all the outlying districts should be furnished the pupils.

Fourth—That instruction in special subjects shall be given in the rural schools. These subjects are to include music, art, domestic science, manual training and agricultural work.

Project education has also been taken up at Chaffey. Here the students are encouraged to raise animals and crops at their homes and at the experiment stations.

By the use of slides, Mr. Hill illustrated the work of beautification which he believes should be taken up by all trustees and boards of education in the county. By very little expense it is possible to turn many of the unattractive schools buildings and grounds into beautiful places. At Chaffey Union High School they are raising all of the trees and shrubs in their hot-houses and greenhouses that can be used by the elementary school.

There are six high school districts in this county which might adopt the idea of supervision from the high schools.

BOY SCOUTS ENJOY DELIGHTFUL TIME

GREATEST EXCITEMENT IS CENTERED AROUND PLUNGE

Fast Baseball Game Played by Picked-up Teams. Fathers and Sons End Day With Basket Lunch on Lawn.

The Boy Scout meeting at Chaffey last week was a great success. The boys were on the grounds early and ready for the games. One of the best ball games of the season was played by two pick-up teams of the Scouts. Ontario and Chino played the other troops and won by a nice margin. During the game each side was in the lead at times, and it was difficult to foresee which side would eventually win. The smaller boys had games of their own and all were busy all the time.

The greatest excitement seemed to center around the swimming pool. Mr. Clapp had arranged it so that Scouts had the use of the pool after 5 o'clock. The door to the building was jammed with boys when the hour arrived. It did not take long to get ready for the water. Mr. Clapp had on hand a number of helpers to show the boys how to swim and also how to get out of too deep water when they got beyond their depth. Mr. D. C. Humm, the field representative of the Red Cross, was present ready to give rewards to all who were able to pass any of the Red Cross tests for swimming. Nineteen qualified for the beginners' buttons, 17 for swimmers and 7 for life savers. One of these, Lex Lucas, will be given the Red Cross Medal.

Mr. Clapp is to be appointed life saving instructor at large for the Red Cross and he can at any time give examinations for the Red Cross to any of the boys.

After about two hours in the water, the boys repaired to the lawn where they were met by their fathers with basket and something to eat. A large circle was formed and all facing the center enjoyed a real camp meal together. All that was needed to make it complete was a fire in the center of the circle.

Mr. Charles Fuller, one of the members of the Scout Committee, then presented emblems for the sale of War Savings Stamps to a number of the boys. All Scouts who had sold stamps to as many as twenty-five different persons were given a button. Those who had sold to twenty-five persons and receiving as much as $250 were given a medal by the government. A palm leaf was given for an additional $100. Those winning buttons were Avery Allen, Ernest Cline, Herbert Stanley, Lowell Hill and Paul Spicer. Avery Allen was given a medal. Avery Allen also won two palm leaves and Leonard Krebbel one.

LAMP DISPLAY HERE FRIDAY, JUNE 20TH

The former Red Cross room is to be transformed into a veritable bower of beauty on Friday, June 20th, and Saturday, June 21st, when the Granger-Hall Electric company in combination with the "Lamp Shop" of Los Angeles, will display there one hundred varieties of electric lamps.

Not only will the big showing contain practical and useful lamps, but ornamental lamps, floor lamps, parlor lamps, table lamps, boudoir lamps, candlestick lamps, silk shades—in fact, all of the latest designs which go to make your home more beautiful will be seen in the big display.

Mr. Paul D. Howse, of the "Lamp Shop" was in town yesterday completing arrangements for the big display which will not only demonstrate to you the value of electricity in lighting, but will also show how, at a slight expense, your home can be made much more attractive.

WOMAN CATCHES NINE-POUND TROUT

Declared to be the biggest fish ever caught in Little Bear lake, a trout weighing nine and one-quarter pounds, was hooked Monday morning by Mrs. M. C. Cheney, of 132 East Olive street, Colton.

Mrs. Cheney with her husband was fishing early in the morning when she caught the big trout which measured 28 inches in length. Mrs. W. Smith stated that in his opinion the catch was the largest ever made in the valley. Mrs. Cheney used a No. 8 hook, which is very light for that size fish.

There is a trophy offered for both the heaviest and the longest trout hooked in Little Bear valley during the summer and Mrs. Cheney is leading all anglers for the trophies.

A new classification of the state lands of Arizona is being made by the state land commission. This will classify lands owned by the state into agricultural land and four classes of grazing lands.

WOMAN'S CLUB TO CONDUCT THE CAMPAIGN FOR DEVASTATED FRANCE

HEADQUARTERS IN BOTH BANKS MONDAY AND TUESDAY

Necessity for Aiding France at Present Time Strongly Urged by Judge Wells. "We May Lose War After Winning It."

The Upland Woman's club has taken charge of the campaign here for devastated France, with Miss Harwood as chairman in charge of the drive.

On Monday and Tuesday headquarters will be maintained at the Commercial National and First National banks, ladies of the club being in charge of the booths in the banks.

The necessity of assisting France at this time is well summed up in the following by Judge Hugh Neal Wells who is in charge of the campaign for Southern California:

We May Lose This War Even After We Have Won It

By Judge Hugh Neal Wells

This is the picture as I see it: German troops marching out of France singing; shouting the promise that they will return upon "another day." Germany full of well-fed and well-clothed children (articles of starvation and suffering were false, as our troops now report); German factories intact; German farms unscarred by war; German industry prepared to enter into world competition, and supplied with stolen tools and machinery. On the other hand, France with her fertile fields rendered fallow; her implements of agriculture and machinery of industry confiscated by the invader; her manhood decimated; little children and women weakened by disease and starvation, ill clad and ill fed; the coming generation weakened physically and the country crippled economically with the procreant power diminished by infection and mutilation.

France is the battleground of civilization. France must be fortified to defend civilization. Otherwise, who will stop the German when he attempts to return? We cannot police a nation of sixty million people forever. Whatever be the result, for good or for ill, we must soon deliver Germany to a government of her own choosing. Not even a powerful world league will prevent Germany from military preparation. The war is not yet won, and unless America shall save these and restore these people, German hordes will again sweep down over Belgium and France—this time without serious opposition. And, unless we do our duty now, this may happen before our children shall reach their majority.

Why did Germany prosecute a campaign of seemingly wanton destruction? Why did she inoculate the inhabitants of occupied territory with venereal diseases? It was a part of a despicable plan.

If we withhold our hand now, if we say "the war is over," if we say "make Germany repay and restore these people," if we circulate the German lie that France does not need our aid, we are helping Germany win the war after she has lost it. Don't you see why German propaganda declares that France is prosperous and does not need assistance? France needs the money now to raise an economic independence and physical vigor.

Germany will never pay the terrible debt, because she cannot pay it. The Peace Conference is not considering "how much Germany owes," but "how much Germany can pay." Meanwhile, the future defenders of the world's peace starve; meanwhile, the French peasants lack the implements of husbandry and the seed necessary to plant the next crop; meanwhile, warm clothing and wholesome food must be supplied to fortify the bodies of the children who may, a few years from now, be called upon once more to defend France and civilization against the hideous Hun.

In the campaign for the Relief of Devastated France, we seek to meet only exigent needs. Before you believe that France should carry the entire burden, remember that she must spend $1,200,000,000 to reconstruct her railroads, and $1,500,000,000 to reorganize commerce and industry in the devastated regions. The cost of reconstruction will run into many millions of dollars. In this campaign we hope only to give first aid.

A summer course in gardening and poultry for women is to be given by the Ohio state university from June 23 to July 19.

Commercial fishing for salmon on the Columbia river opened May 1. The fishermen are demanding 11 1/2 cents a pound for salmon.

PROSPERITY IS ENJOYED IN DRY DETROIT

DETROIT was the first of the "million" class cities to go dry. The first of May, 1918, saw 1200 saloon licenses automatically canceled. While the war days and their abnormal activities have tended to obscure the direct concrete results of prohibition, my duties as police commissioner and mayor have shown me no permanent damage to the city's prosperity. On the contrary, I have before me the data to prove that the city has benefited enormously.

Petty crime in Detroit has been reduced from 60 to 70 per cent. The house of correction previously was overflowing and in need of expansion. Now the commissioners find their charges number only one third of the former total.

The visiting nurses of the board of health report the improvement in home conditions as beyond their greatest expectations. Child welfare has received an impetus which millions of dollars in appropriations could not have effected.

Detroit merchants report a greater business from the working classes than ever before, and the banks show a greatly increased number of depositors. There are those who believe that high wages in war plants have brought this about, but it is my personal opinion as a banker, manufacturer and city official that prohibition should have equal credit with war wages. Collections also have been improved.

The manufacturers were told that prohibition would bring a labor shortage, but this has been disproved. Factory records show conclusively that the elimination of liquor has reduced tardiness, absence and accidents in the plants, to say nothing of production increase.

The commissioner of health states that there is no increase in the number addicted to drugs. There is bootlegging of liquor, but it has not been more prevalent than expected, and should be reduced to a minimum when Ohio and Toledo becomes dry.

The elimination of vice has been aided by prohibition. Detroit abolished her tenderloin before prohibition came, but the dry edict guaranteed that abolition.

The theater business has been better than ever.

Detroit cannot trace the harm prohibition may have done, but it can sense the good effects and the greatest of these will not arrive until the present generation of children has been permitted to develop in homes unmolested by John Barleycorn.—By James Bouzens, Mayor of Detroit.

THE FARMHOUSE TAVERN

THERE has just been devised, under the supervision of experts of the United States Department of Agriculture, what is announced as a unique development in the provisions made upon the farms of the country for the accommodation of the regular "help," and of that employed during the seasons when extra "hands" are needed for handling the crops. The proposed arrangement, which will, no doubt, be adopted by those farmers who require the additional accommodations, and which will be welcomed by those employed upon the farms, is, as might be supposed, a model "bunk-house," provided with living-room, cook-room, bath, and such other modern appliances as may be desired. Such an arrangement, inexpensive enough, under modern conditions of farming, indicates a progressive step far in advance of domestic arrangements on the farms a few decades ago, even in what are now the richest and most prosperous agricultural sections of the United States. The immediate pressing necessities on the farm, especially in the earlier years of its development, when the task was to subdue the rough prairie soil, or the scrub-oak or heavily timbered lands, were not comfortable living quarters, so much as barns large enough to provide shelter for horses, cattle, and sheep, and storage for grain and fodder. The dwelling house was, in most cases, small and lacking in what today are considered necessary provisions for heating, drainage, lighting, and water supply.

But these unpretentious and sometimes unattractive homes were not, because of their unassuming proportions, necessarily uncomfortable or squalid. Indeed, the reverse was usually the case. The key to the home of the pioneer farmer, figuratively speaking, was never turned in the door. The farmhouse, especially in those sections remote from the towns and villages, in the earlier days in the middle and far western sections of the United States especially, were always taverns, in the sense that no wayfarer, whatever his circumstances, was ever turned away. True, although "there was always room for one more," this room, especially in the warmer weather, was sometimes, from choice, found in the hayloft or elsewhere outside the house. And it seemed, sometimes, to those who recall those earlier and somewhat primitive times, as if there must have been, among those who came to seek lodging for the night, and perhaps shelter for a horse, some secret code or sign-language which directed them to those places where they would find what they sought. So it was that often the itinerant peddler, with his cargo of utensils of tin and "fancy notions," which he exchanged for paper-rags; the missionary with Bibles for the Indians and others; and sometimes the wandering horse-trader, with his retinue of horses of uncertain quality and, perhaps, right of possession, seemed willing to travel far into the night to reach the farmhouse to which they may, by some means, have been directed. For all these there was usually an ungrudging, though not always, as may be supposed, a really cordial welcome. The housewife, usually busy with her many duties, while not over-anxious to "entertain" the transient guest, no matter how appreciative he might be of the kindness shown, often, no doubt, was impelled, by a desire to hear the current topics of the times discussed, to extend a hospitality not entirely assumed.

The farmhouse tavern, however, like the modern hotel of the cities and towns, had, as well, its "regular" patrons, so to speak. The circuit-rider of the early days in the middle west never labored under any doubt as to where he would "put up" over night or over Sunday, nor had the preacher who came regularly, though perhaps at long intervals, to hold a "meeting." These latter were, of course, "complimentary" guests, who remained as long as they chose, occupied the "bunk" room, were made welcome to the best to be had, and expected with no thought, either on their part or on the part of their hosts, or of the boy who had cared for their horses, of paying for what had gladly been given. Then there was another regular, though only occasional, patron of the farmhouse tavern. This was the district school teacher, in the days when he or she "boarded around" the board and lodging being furnished by the patrons of the school, in turn, to apply, instead of money, in part payment for the services rendered. This guest, in the estimation of the younger members of the household, was welcome or unwelcome, according to circumstances which may easily be imagined. There might, of course, be conditions in which some boy would prefer that no more detailed report of his progress or deportment in school than that which he might bring should reach the household. In such cases the sojourn of the teacher for a week or a fortnight was sometimes fraught with undesired possibilities. But in many instances all this sort of thing was dissipated in the visits of the "schoolma'am" who was amiable and thoughtful enough to remember the amenities of the occasion, and to regard herself as bound by the etiquette and responsibilities of a guest. The evenings, with her persuasive management of the antiquated melodeon or the reed organ, and the singing, in chorus, with her soprano leading the voices of parents and children, seemed so far removed from the austere setting of the school room that the real identity of the guest was sometimes actually forgotten.

There is little doubt that the innovation in household arrangements for the farm are made necessary by changed conditions and the fulfillment of new ideals, or that the progressive farmer and the capable housewife will welcome the improvements proposed by the government experts. But it cannot be forgotten that this innovation, like the innovation of the modern hotel, will displace, as the modern hotel has displaced, some real opportunities for social intercourse and close acquaintance which were found amid the former conditions.—Christian Science Monitor.

PRACTICAL BOLSHIEVISM

Is your city dwelling charming?
Hand it over!
Have you got a place for farming?
Hand it over!
Is your auto just the cheery
Things you need to chase the dreary
Thoughts away when you are weary?
Hand it over!
Are there clubs for rest and pleasure?
Hand them over!
Are there banks for people's treasures?
Hand them over!

Are there men throughout the nation
Who deserve our admiration,
Firm in high determination?
Hand them over!
Is your money well invested?
Hand it over!
Is your business tried and tested?
Hand it over!
Are the telephones and traction
Giving perfect satisfaction,
Are the railroads all in action?
Hand them over!

Is your wife a matron stately
Who doth rule your home sedately,
Do you love your daughter greatly?
Hand them over!

A BUSINESS WOMAN'S SOLILOQUY

(With Apologies to Shakespeare)
TO WED OR NOT TO WED, that is the question.
Whether 'tis better, after all, to marry,
And be cajoled and bullied by a
husband,
Or to take up stenography or clerking,
And slave, alas! for some one else's
husband?
To love—to wed—and by a wedding
end
The struggles and the thousand petty cares
Devoutly to be wished for! To love—to wed—
To wed—perchance divorce! Aye, there's the rub!
For in the dream of bliss what jolts may come
When we have cast aside our little jobs
Must make us wary. There's the sorry thought!
That makes so many spinsters hesitate.
For who would bear the long, eternal grind,
The employer's joke, the chief clerk's contumely,
The insolence of the office boys, the smoke
Of last week's stogies clinging to the hair
When she herself may quickly end
it all
By getting married? Who would not exchange
A dingy office for a kitchenette—
A keyboard for a cookstove or a cradle—
But that the dread of something worse to come
After the honeymoon—that life of chance
From whose dark bourn so many have returned
By way of Reno—fills us with dismay.
And makes us rather bear the jobs
we have
Than fly to evils that we know not of?
Thus cowardice makes spinsters of —so many

tor trip to San Francisco, where they expect to meet their son and brother who has just returned from overseas service and is now to be mustered out and returned home.

Central school eighth grade pupils very delightfully entertained the eighth grade pupils of the Alta Loma and Cucamonga South Side schools last Friday evening at Central school, with their respective teachers, and a fine time was enjoyed by the boys and girls present. Games and music whiled away the evening hours, after which the hostess school served tempting refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lucas and two little sons left Saturday by motor for a visit with relatives in Pasadena. Mr. Lucas returning home on Sunday evening while Mrs. Lucas and the boys remained for a longer visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Rolland McKennett and little son and Miss Grace Markham motored in to Los Angeles Saturday for the week-end. Saturday evening they had the pleasure of seeing DeWolf Hopper at the Marion. They report Mr. Robert McKennett as being able to visit with friends, calling on Mrs. A. L. Miller in South Pasadena one day recently.

Frank J. Caldwell, one time rancher on Fourth street, more recently of Ontario, has purchased a forty acre alfalfa ranch five miles south of Ontario and has moved his family to their new home, renting the home place on East A street. Their son, Harold, who since his return from the service has been with the Santa Fe company at Fullerton, is now helping his father on the new ranch.

Private Phillip Wangler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Wangler, Sr., writes he is now stationed with the 31st Infantry at Harbin, Manchuria (northern China), which is just 600 miles farther in the interior than where he was previously located at Vladivostok in Siberia. The soldiers seem to be well taken care of there and entertained; no fighting and many American people there, and the boys enjoy music and social times. Young Wangler is keeping in practice with the drums.

Alta Loma is experiencing a nice little boom-time these days; J. H. Donner is planning the erection of some five little bungalows, for rental purposes, to be located on the slightly tract north of the P. E. station; and there is much talk of a new bank being located there before long.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Lucas returned Sunday evening, having been gone since last Wednesday, when they left to attend the Bankers' State convention held at Catalina Island, where they "were very enjoyably entertained." At the banquet held at the new island hotel on Friday evening covers were laid for some six or seven hundred guests, state bankers and their wives. The "key to the island" was theirs and the interesting island and sea trips were much enjoyed. Mr. Lucas was one of a fortunate group favored with the novel sensation of a ride in a submarine, which submerged for a little trip under sea. Several hydroplanes frolicked about the bay.

Cucamonga school was highly honored when on last Monday Miss Franklin, the well known lecturer, through the courtesy of Miss Hanson, of Upland, gave a very interesting talk to the children of the school on the "Fatherless Children of France" and related many of her personal experiences during her stay overseas. Miss Franklin is also a noted portrait painter, but has been touring the country in the interest of the French orphans, thus far only speaking in the high schools.

Friday the 13th is the lucky day this month, for on that day the pupils of Cucamonga school will hold their closing day of school program, which will consist of flag drills, songs and recitations; the seventh and eighth grades will present a class play, as will also the sixth grade. Everybody welcome (no admission). Cucamonga school at 8 o'clock.

On June 19th, of next week, Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock, commencement exercises for the 1919 graduates of Cucamonga school will be held. There will be an interesting address by Chaplain Hershel Griffith, of Los Angeles, who will tell of his wonderful experiences in France during the great war. This year's graduating class consists of William Beard, Vinton Luther, Mae Ahlgren, Leona Miller and Hazel Canup. All are invited.

Mr. John Whitson is the chairman of this district for the French relief drive and the dollars have been rolling in for this good cause, showing that "it is much better to give than to receive."

There will be a special election held Tuesday, July 1st, to vote on the forty million state road bond issue. The polls will be open from 6 a. m. to 7 p. m. Polling place in this district will probably be at Kilbourne's hall, with the three precincts combined; inspector, John Whitson; judge, Miss Gertrude V. Reid; clerks, Henry Albert and J. A. Hall.

The United States Civil Service Commission, at the request of the postmaster general, has announced an examination to be held in Upland July 16th, for the position of postmaster for Cucamonga, succeeding Postmaster W. A. Lucas, resigned. This office carries an annual compensation of $1000, and to be eligible, the applicant must be a citizen of the United States, must actually reside within the delivery of the office and have so resided at the time the present vacancy occurred. Applicants must have reached the age of 21 years but not their 65th birthday on the date of the examination.

Will Bore for More Water

The board of directors of the Hermosa Water company, of Alta Loma, met in interesting session Monday evening to discuss the advisability of sinking another well, and so strong were the members in favor of developing more water, a vote was taken to push the proposition thru at once and the contract was drawn up then and there. The plans are for an 18-inch well, which will be located probably somewhere east of the school site. A special committee consisting of R. A. Wagner, C. B. Motsinger and W. B. Elder had been appointed to meet and confer with the board of directors. It is feared that after the past three years of subnormal rainfall, the water from the canyons will disappear and it is to prevent any shortage in the irrigation water of the Hermosa Water company that this important step was taken. A civil engineer was expected out from Los Angeles on Tuesday to confer with W. H. Horst on the prospective site for the new well.

Welcome Home Day Today

Today is the big day and all Cucamonga-Alta oma should be joining hands with the entire West End in honoring our returned service men. In the parade will march our returned soldiers, marines and sailors, under the supervision of Capt. Chas. Thorpe, recently returned from France, the local Bay Scouts under Assistant Scout Master A. C. Beattie; the Junior Red Cross represented by thirty little girls in white and wearing white service caps, riding in a prettily decorated float, in charge of Mrs. A. C. Beattie; local Red Cross officials and workers in Red Cross formation. Every one will enjoy a big basket picnic at Chafey at high noon, while the service men are being dined in the building. In the afternoon auto races, band concert, evening dancing. One big round of enjoyment all day!

June Wedding Bells

In the presence of some thirty-five guests occurred a pretty little home wedding Wednesday afternoon of last week, at 3 o'clock, when Miss Myrtle Hatch became the happy bride of Mr. T. M. Joseph, the wedding being solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Straight on Turner avenue. The pretty bride, of the brunette type, was becomingly gowned in a tailored suit of white cloth and carried a dainty shower bouquet. They were unattended.

Rev. G. N. Gortner officiated and the ring ceremony was performed. Shortly after the ceremony the newly-weds left for a week's honeymoon trip to San Diego. Upon their return they will be at home to their friends at the Joseph ranch home on Olive street. Goodban-Brooks—

One of the prettiest home weddings of the season occurred Tuesday evening when at 8:30 Miss Olive Edith Brooks and Mr. James Edward Goodban were united in marriage at the home of the bride, 406 Euclid avenue. The wedding was a very quiet affair, only members of the two families and near relatives being present. The home was prettily decorated for the occasion, potted plants, sweet peas and ferns being used throughout the four large rooms which were thrown together, each giving a full view of the ceremony, to which special care was given in the artistic arrangements of the decorations, an abundance of pink and white sweet peas being used. An arch effect of ferns and sweet peas was arranged in the wide doorway and it was beneath this that the ceremony took place.

At the appointed hour the bride and groom descended the stairway unattended, but preceded by the flower girl, little Miss Mildred Gogen, of San Bernardino, the dainty little niece of the bride. Entering the ceremony room the couple took their places beneath the arch where the beautiful and impressive ring ceremony was read by Rev. Chas. A. Kent, pastor of the First Methodist church.

The bride, a petite brunette, wore a lovely gown of white George to over white satin with pearl trimmings. She carried an exquisite shower bouquet of Cecil Bruner roses and tiny buds of the same roses were used to fasten the long draped veil which was arranged in soft folds over her dark hair, completing a costume which brought in to relief her delicate beauty.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the couple received the hearty congratulations and best wishes of the guests. Later in the evening the guests were served with pink white cream and cake.

The bride has lived in Upland with her mother, Mrs. S. J. Brooks, for the past ten years and during that time has made many warm friends. She is a graduate of the Chaffey Union High School and is well known to many of the young people both in Upland and in Ontario. Her bright, sunny disposition and charming manner have endeared her to all who know her.

The groom, the son of Mr. W. F. Goodban, has been a resident of Upland for eighteen years, coming from Iowa. He is also a graduate of Chaffey Union High School and attended Pomona college. He served with the U. S. Marines during the war, being one of the first men to volunteer from Upland. He is a young man of excellent character and enjoys the respect and friendship of all who know him.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodban left Wednesday morning for a two weeks' visit at a mountain resort. Upon their return they will occupy their pretty home on Tenth street.

The many friends of the popular young couple unite in wishing them many years of happiness.

Merry Wives—

The members of the Merry Wives and a few invited friends were the guests of Mrs. W. B. Duncan on Friday afternoon. Fancy work filled in the time happily and toward evening apple pie a la mode was served with a cooling drink, by the hostess, assisted by her daughters, Mrs. C. A. Brest and Miss Ruth Duncan. The guests present were Mrs. M. E. Titus, Mrs. Henry O. Blohm, Mrs. F. W. Palmer, Mrs. W. L. Brown, Mrs. D. D. Crew, Mrs. Paul Cushing, Mrs. W. C. Cline, Mrs. C. C. Eyman, Mrs. C. K. Hostess to Camp Fire Girls—

Miss Helen Chapin was hostess to the Wahwahaysee Camp Fire at her home in Ontario last Thursday, when she entertained with an informal supper served on the veranda. The guests were Miss Harwood, Esther Baer, Norah Leahy, Geraldine Norton, Mildred Bost, Winifred Bost, Hazel Rider, Elizabeth Fredendall, Lena Leahy, Louise Dean, Madeline Fulton, Marion Maurer, Louise Jones, Ruth Whitney.

Four-Course Dinner Party—

Mrs. W. C. Reynolds was hostess last Monday evening at a delightful four-course dinner party, given as a surprise on her husband, who celebrated a birthday anniversary on that date. One of the guests, Mrs. T. M. Nichols, had a birthday the same day, and received many good wishes from every one. Sweet peas formed the decoration motif, and covers were marked for the Rev. and Mrs. Charles Kent, Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Moser, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Nichols, Mr. Summer Reynolds and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Reynolds.

For Bride-to-Be—

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hartley had as their house guest over the week-end their niece, Miss Myrtle Hartley, whose marriage to Mr. Phil Burgess of Los Angeles takes place the 17th of June. While here Miss Hartley was the honor guest at many delightful social affairs, among them being a dinner party at the Uma Tea Gardens on Friday, and a family picnic given by Mr. and Mrs. Hartley on Saturday at Fairmont park, Riverside. On Monday afternoon Mrs. Hartley, assisted by her daughters, the Misses Pauline and Helen Hartley, entertained with a shower. Many useful and pretty articles were given the bride-to-be, and the guests spent part of the afternoon in hemming domestic towels, which were the gift of Mrs. Hartley. Miss Sue Billington sang several songs which were greatly enjoyed. Refreshments were served to the following guests: Mrs. Ernest C. Mehl, Mrs. Willis Mehl, Mrs. Guilford Hartley, Mrs. Roy Kepner of Chino, Miss Sue Billington, Miss Anna Wilson, Miss Ruby Mehl and Miss Florence Mehl.

Priscilla Circle—

An all-day meeting and annual election of officers of the Priscilla Circle was very well attended last Thursday at the home of Mrs. William Rohrig. Quilting frames were placed in the two large living rooms, and the members went to work so energetically that six completed comforts were the result of their day's industry.

The Circle was pleasantly surprised at noon when delicious salads, strawberry shortcake, coffee, and iced lemonade, supplemented the usual basket luncheon brought by the members, the Misses Anna and Ethel Rohrig assisting their mother in serving. Mrs. Wilbur Rider was the birthday member this month and contributed a three-layer walnut cake to the feast.

The business meeting and annual election and reports followed. Since October last the war work has been two hundred and two articles made for Red Cross. Seven hundred and thirty-eight women's and children's garments for French relief; twenty-three sheets, towels and pillow cases donated to the Red Cross linen shower; and the local help given has been ten sheets made for the San Antonio hospital, a large number of jars of fruit donated to the David and Margaret home at LaVerne, a Spanish family outfit with clothes, two children equipped for school, and ten dollars in cash given at Christmas time. The following officers were elected for the coming year: Mrs. William Rohrig, president; Mrs. Herman J. Powell, vice-president; Mrs. Wilbur Rider, secretary and treasurer. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in finishing the quilts, all of which were given to Mrs. G. E. Bender for shipment to France, and in seeing the splendid work done by Miss Rohrig's pupils in Arizona, one quilt, made by both boys and girls, being especially worthy of admiration.

The guests of the day were Mrs. LeRoy Bradley and Mrs. Springer, the members present being Mrs. H. J. Powell, Mrs. David Ward, Mrs. Royal Ward, Mrs. W. Cavers, Mrs. S. J. Genung, Mrs. T. J. First flight of the aviator on a schedule that will include every day of the first season to seek out fires in the San Bernardino mountains was made Monday.

A machine flew along the range at a height of 13,000 feet from north of Upland to Big Bear valley and the Mt. San Bernardino region.

And a fire was sighted. The aviator saw it from a distance of 25 miles, flew to it and found it was an unimportant brush fire.

To get an idea of the view of the aviator patrols, Forest Supervisor R. H. Chaffey was taken up several thousand feet by Major Peabody at March Field. He was accompanied by District Forester Reddington of Arizona. Fred Jeken, district ranger, of San Bernardino, was with the party which made the inspection at March Field.

When an aviator sights a fire he will fix its location on a map laid out in squares of about six miles square, and which are numbered. The aviator will then mark the square, and which are numbered, carries directions that the information be telephoned to the U. S. forestry office at San Bernardino, and drop the blank with a parachute over the nearest town. Forest rangers will then have the exact information as to the location of the fire, and additional information will be telephoned as soon as the aviator makes a landing at March Field.

Each morning at 10 o'clock an aviator will start out on the patrol. By flying at a height of 13,000 feet the aviator will be able to scan the forests on both sides of the range without crossing the crest. The route each morning will be from Upland east to the Bear valley country.

In the afternoon the aviator will make the patrol to the San Jacinto mountains, in the Cleveland forest reserve.

ONE OF FAITHFUL PAYS WILSON'S RANCH TAX

Riverside Press: Well, President Wilson's account with Riverside county is squared and it took a Los Angeles devotee to do it. Riverside Democrats were not swift enough to act upon the suggestion that they each throw a dollar into the hat and pay the president's delinquent taxes of $37.21 on his property in the Coachella valley.

But George A. Fox, deputy sheriff of Los Angeles county, learning that the name of Woodrow Wilson was on the delinquent tax list of Riverside county, got into immediate action and telegraphed the money for the bill to Tax Collector Stibbens yesterday.

"Wired $37.21 to pay our President Wilson's taxes. He is looking after all of us over there and we should keep things straight for him over here," is the laconic message sent by the Los Angeles deputy sheriff yesterday.

And now when the president comes from overseas and decides that the way of the White House shall no longer be his ways, he will find a nice little, taxes-free ranch awaiting his homecoming.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL NOTES

The schools will have a holiday Thursday, June 12.

Miss Franklin, who spent four years in France, gave an interesting talk to the pupils Monday morning on the work among the fatherless children of France.

The sympathy of the school and the community has been extended to Miss Mitchell because of the death of her father on Sunday.

Miss Williams' room secured the Chaffey Glee Club for the entertainment at assembly Wednesday morning.

It has been decided to start a lawn in front of the schoolhouse, and work will be started as soon as possible. This will add greatly to the appearance of the grounds.

MISS ANNIE HART

Miss Annie Hart was born on a farm near Milwaukee, Wisconsin, in May, 1880. Her father died when she was but four years of age. As a little child she was taught to love her Bible, her mother being a devout Christian. She joined the Methodist church when but a small girl. Her life has been one of loving service. As she grew to womanhood, she became a teacher in the high school.

For a number of years she taught a Sunday school class of girls of the "teen age." At one time she had 23 girls in her class. She never tired of doing things outside of the Sunday service to hold her girls, as she said she wanted them to look back on those good times as some of the bright spots of their lives.

Only the week before her death her birthday was remembered by many of those girls by postal cards and letters.

She was passionately fond of good music. It was never a cross for her to be asked to play or assist in any way she could.

She passed away Friday, June 6, at the home of the Misses Hart on East Seventh street. She came to California some four months ago from Chicago, hoping to find health. She was a patient sufferer and leaves the heritage of the memory a virtuous life successfully lived.

Funeral services were held in Draper's undertaking parlors of Ontario, Tuesday, 2:30 p. m. Rev. Charles A. Kent officiating. A mixed quartette sang two favorite songs of the deceased, "It is well with my soul," and "Some day we'll understand."

CARD OF THANKS

A machine flew along the range at a height of 13,000 feet from north of Upland to Big Bear valley and the Mt. San Bernardino region.

And a fire was sighted. The aviator saw it from a distance of 25 miles, flew to it and found it was an unimportant brush fire.

To get an idea of the view of the aviator patrols, Forest Supervisor R. H. Chaffey was taken up several thousand feet by Major Peabody at March Field. He was accompanied by District Forester Reddington of Arizona. Fred Jeken, district ranger, of San Bernardino, was with the party which made the inspection at March Field.

When an aviator sights a fire he will fix its location on a map laid out in squares of about six miles square, and which are numbered. The aviator will then mark the square, and which are numbered, carries directions that the information be telephoned to the U. S. forestry office at San Bernardino, and drop the blank with a parachute over the nearest town. Forest rangers will then have the exact information as to the location of the fire, and additional information will be telephoned as soon as the aviator makes a landing at March Field.

Each morning at 10 o'clock an aviator will start out on the patrol. By flying at a height of 13,000 feet the aviator will be able to scan the forests on both sides of the range without crossing the crest. The route each morning will be from Upland east to the Bear valley country.

In the afternoon the aviator will make the patrol to the San Jacinto mountains, in the Cleveland forest reserve.

ONE OF FAITHFUL PAYS WILSON'S RANCH TAX

Riverside Press: Well, President Wilson's account with Riverside county is squared and it took a Los Angeles devotee to do it. Riverside Democrats were not swift enough to act upon the suggestion that they each throw a dollar into the hat and pay the president's delinquent taxes of $37.21 on his property in the Coachella valley.

But George A. Fox, deputy sheriff of Los Angeles county, learning that the name of Woodrow Wilson was on the delinquent tax list of Riverside county, got into immediate action and telegraphed the money for the bill to Tax Collector Stibbens yesterday.

"Wired $37.21 to pay our President Wilson's taxes. He is looking after all of us over there and we should keep things straight for him over here," is the laconic message sent by the Los Angeles deputy sheriff yesterday.

And now when the president comes from overseas and decides that the way of the White House shall no longer be his ways, he will find a nice little, taxes-free ranch awaiting his homecoming.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL NOTES

The schools will have a holiday Thursday, June 12.

Miss Franklin, who spent four years in France, gave an interesting talk to the pupils Monday morning on the work among the fatherless children of France.

The sympathy of the school and the community has been extended to Miss Mitchell because of the death of her father on Sunday.

Miss Williams' room secured the Chaffey Glee Club for the entertainment at assembly Wednesday morning.

It has been decided to start a lawn in front of the schoolhouse, and work will be started as soon as possible. This will add greatly to the appearance of the grounds.

MISS ANNIE HART

Miss Annie Hart was born on a farm near Milwaukee, Wisconsin, in May, 1880. Her father died when she was but four years of age. As a little child she was taught to love her Bible, her mother being a devout Christian. She joined the Methodist church when but a small girl. Her life has been one of loving service. As she grew to womanhood, she became a teacher in the high school.

For a number of years she taught a Sunday school class of girls of the "teen age." At one time she had 23 girls in her class. She never tired of doing things outside of the Sunday service to hold her girls, as she said she wanted them to look back on those good times as some of the bright spots of their lives.

Only the week before her death her birthday was remembered by many of those girls by postal cards and letters.

She was passionately fond of good music. It was never a cross for her to be asked to play or assist in any way she could.

She passed away Friday, June 6, at the home of the Misses Hart on East Seventh street. She came to California some four months ago from Chicago, hoping to find health. She was a patient sufferer and leaves the heritage of the memory a virtuous life successfully lived.

Funeral services were held in Draper's undertaking parlors of Ontario, Tuesday, 2:30 p. m. Rev. Charles A. Kent officiating. A mixed quartette sang two favorite songs of the deceased, "It is well with my soul," and "Some day we'll understand."

The grammar school graduation exercises, which took place Friday evening on the outdoor stage at the school grounds, were thoroughly enjoyable and everything went off in the quiet, orderly manner that has characterized this year with Miss Wilson acting as principal. The evening was very pleasant and a good moon helped the general effect. The girls' graduation dresses, which were all alike, were simple and very pretty, and made their Dorothy Spence an instrumental number. The girls' graduation exercises were placed on the stage for the Price gave the history of the class graduates, school board, teachers, from its small beginning under Miss Willits down to the present time. The most cleverly written class play we have heard in many a long day was read by Ruby Dugdale. Mrs. Thomas Donnelly gave two piano solos, and following a short talk by Rev. Ellis, the graduates were presented their diplomas by Mr. John Scott, clerk of the school board. Professor Booth, of Chaffey, began his interesting talk on "Education as a Help to Play," by complimenting the community on the fact that every member of the graduating class is planning to enter high school at Chaffey in the fall. He said it spoke well for the people here that they were encouraging the young people to continue their work beyond the local school. His very interesting lecture was illustrated by beautiful stereopticon slides made from photographs taken during a trip in the High Sierras. Both speaker and pictures pleased every one present and all went to their homes feeling well repaid for any effort it had taken to attend.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Ladies' Aid, held Thursday afternoon in the church parlor, was well attended and quite worth while. The Missionary committee, consisting of Mrs. C. W. Greenlee, Mrs. Florence Fisher, Mrs. Clara Tilden, Mrs. Wm. Troyer, and Miss Helen Burbank, each took part in the program by reading or telling of the work of some foreign mission. During the business session the pledge to foreign missions was renewed. The ladies voted to help in sending a missionary box to a station in Japan in time for Christmas. Articles for the box will be taken to the home of Mrs. E. T. Myers on the 26th, the date of the Tea Circle. All the donations from San Bernardino county will be shipped from Redlands this year and the pictures of the new station cost must be in Redlands July first. Plans for the July open-air concert were discussed. The sick committee gave a very good report, having made a number of calls and also having sent a good many notes and letters to local people who have been ill recently away from home.

Ralph Price, Lester Burbank, Alexander Allen and the J. K. Spray family attended the Scout ball game at Chaffey Saturday afternoon. Alexander Allen played in the game.

Miss Wilson remained in Etiwanda until Monday to complete her duties. She teaches next year in Fullerton at a much higher salary.

Mrs. Charles Stephens and children spent Saturday in Upland as visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Thompson, whom they knew in Arizona.

Mr. and Mrs. John Frost and family and Mr. and Mrs. John Scott and family and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Price were dinner guests Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Morris of Ontario. The dinner also included several others who are related to Messrs. Herbert Price and Forest Ogan, who have recently returned from overseas service and in whose honor the event was planned.

Misses Vera McLaren and Isabel Smith and Messrs. Alexander Lucas and Richard Williams of Upland accompanied Professor Booth to Etiwanda Friday evening and listened to the program.

Mrs. Clifford Martin and children of Long Beach spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Werner.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Stephens and son, of Upland, came over for the graduation exercises Friday evening, being particularly interested, as Miss Ruby Dugdale is a cousin of Mr. Stephens.

Messrs. Gerald Cour, Cyrus McClean, Richard Wood and Billy Hippard motored to Los Angeles and Venice Sunday.

Mrs. J. D. Orendorff left Monday for Seattle where she will spend the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Kemp, Miss Lida and Sylvanus and Mr. Oleson of San Bernardino drove to Victorville Sunday and spent the day at the home of Mrs. T. M. Neece. Mrs. Neece has been re-elected vice-principal at Victorville for the coming year, at increased salary.

Miss Lida, Kemp has accepted a position in the San Dimas schools.

Mrs. Earl Roberts of San Bernardino spent a few days the last of the week at the home of her sister, Mrs. Fred Koch, while moving from her former home to a place in Los Angeles.

Mr. E. G. Rader and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Donnelly have all been ill recently due to some cooked meat they purchased for sandwiches on a recently auto trip. All are better.

Mrs. Herman Henderson's father, came the last of the week for a few days' stay, called here from Blythe by the illness of his wife, Mrs. Hensley.

The girls of the 7th and 8th grades were entertained Monday afternoon at the home of Miss Roberta Henderson. Present were Gertrude Greenlee, Ruth Brownless, Evelyn Koch, Irene Scott, Ruby Dugdale, Frances and Dorothy Spence and Roberta Henderson. They had a delightful time.

Mrs. Herbert Highland and daughter Clara came over from Colton on Thursday to live on their homestead here for the summer.

Frost Bros. are putting in an electric air pump and will have "free air" on tap in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. John Baldwin came over from Ontario for the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burger.

Miss Lauria Louthian drove out from Pasadena Thursday to visit her ranch here, bringing some friends with her for the trip.

Mrs. George E. Utman is spending a week at the beaches. Mrs. George Frost, who accompanied her as far as Los Angeles, remained over night Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Bartee.

Edward Fisher returned home Friday after several weeks' work in Los Angeles.

Miss Marjorie Tilden spent Saturday night at the home of her aunt, Mrs. G. E. Frost.

CAMP CAJON TO BE DEDICATED ON JULY 4TH. UPLAND WILL BE REPRESENTED

San Bernardino Sun: Two months have elapsed since W. M. Bristol, orange grower, poet and dreamer of East Highlands, gave the Sun the first installment of the story of the conception and development of his plan for a modern picnic ground in Cajon Pass.

It told of a welcoming arch to be erected by the Automobile Club of Southern California, of concrete stone walls, with columns carrying tablets with various inscriptions, and of other features having practical and utilitarian aspects. At the request of the Sun, Mr. Bristol gives today the second chapter of the story, which shows that the project has passed the tentative stage and that the assembling of materials for construction is well under way.

It is not generally known that Mr. Bristol asked for and brought about the erection of the new Santa Fe station at East Highlands, designing the edifice and building with his own hands the big outside chimney of blue granite with the Santa Fe emblem—the Greek cross in a circle—as an inset in its face. He was given a free hand by the railway people and the picturesque new station cost about $10,000, is the result. It may be assumed that the same artistic lines will be apparent at Camp Cajon.

In a few days Mr. Bristol will transfer his headquarters to the campsite, taking with him two of the stone masons employed by him on the East Highlands station, and active construction will then begin and continue until the grounds are ready for the use of those who love to dine in the open air.

Accompanying is Mr. Bristol's statement of the present status of the enterprise.

By William M. Bristol

I know one thing now that I did not know when I began the promotion of Camp Cajon, to-wit: That nearly every man is a lover of Nature. Men whom I supposed to be so absorbed in their business as to be blind and deaf to a camp-ground project have been the most liberal and enthusiastic supporters of the pending development in Cajon Pass. I have a committee, active as well as advisory, which includes prominent men—and women, too—in every corner of the county. And in addition to these there are others outside the county who are giving material aid in the Cajon venture.

In telling the second installment of a story a newspaper man always recites briefly the main points of the first. I will follow the precedent.

In December, 1917, the pioneers of San Bernardino valley unveiled and dedicated a monument marking the junction of the old Santa Fe trail with the Salt Lake trail in Cajon Pass. After the ceremonies the assembled throng adjourned to the Willow grove bordering the highway above the monument and partook of a camp dinner, sitting and eating on the ground. It was there that the plan to build concrete tables and seats in the grove was conceived. The project was held in abeyance because of the war, but, with the signing of the armistice, it was revived and, like a rolling snowball, it has increased its proportions as it moves along. The proposed arch, to carry welcome and farewell greetings, will not be built because the state highway commission disapproves of arches over the public roads. It is hoped, however, that means may be found to erect a public rest room at the camp which will afford places for the signs which were to have adorned the arch.

The foremost attractions at a camp ground, are, of course, the conveniences for eating. At Camp Cajon these are to be provided in the form of twenty concrete tables with seats for eight people at each and with concrete fireplaces nearby. The tables will be circular, five feet in diameter and so constructed as to be proof against everything except a vandal sledge hammer. The seats will also be of concrete and will be anchored by a concrete floor connecting them with the base of the table. Each table with its seats and floor will weigh approximately three tons.

Have Legends Many The money for the construction of the tables is being contributed by the various towns and communities of the county, as well as by different organizations and groups of individuals. Embedded in the center of each table will be a round metal tablet 12 inches in diameter bearing an inscription chosen by those who contribute to the table. The table provided by the San Bernardino chamber of commerce, for example, will carry the legend, "20 miles to San Bernardino, the Gate City and home of the National Orange Show." The Redlands tablet will read, "30 miles to Redlands, its free auto camp and famous Smiley Heights." Chino will be there with "47 miles southwest, Chino, where everything grows." Upland will say, "35 miles oceanward to Upland and its famous Euclid avenue." Etiwanda's legend will be "29 miles westward to beautiful Etiwanda, home of the grape and the lemon." Fontana will allege, "23 miles to Fontana, the largest orange grove

Why a HOT SPOT Chalmers is Well Nigh Trouble Proof

MOST troubles in a car come from faulty lubrication. An authority remarked the other day that 75% of all troubles could be traced to this cause.

A former professor at Yale said: "Give a car plenty of lubrication and it will take care of itself."

Now here's how the Hot Spot Chalmers happens to be free of lubrication ailments.

Hot Spot "heats up" the raw gas, "turns it into a vapor cloud," so that when the ingenious Ram's-horn has passed it on to the cylinders it's finely prepared for combustion.

No raw gas runs down past the pistons into the crank case to thin out the lubricating oil.

In engines of the old type—those without Hot Spot and Ram's-horn—raw gas has caused endless trouble:

- burned bearings that cost a great deal to replace;
- excessive vibration that develops countless rattles;
- engine knocks that are often taken for carbon knocks;
- overheated engines.

Such things you rarely experience in a Chalmers and then only through extreme personal carelessness.

See the modern engine in the modern car—the Hot Spot Chalmers, one of the few great cars of the world.

CAMP CAJON TO BE DEDICATED

in the world." Next comes Rialto with "18 miles southward to Rialto's orange groves on road to Los Angeles." Colton responds with "23 miles southward to Colton, the Hub City, where industry reigns." The Del Rosa tablet will be the only one bearing anything aside from text. On its upper portion it carries an arrowhead followed by the legend, "29 miles to Del Rosa, beneath the arrowhead." Then comes Highland with "23 miles southeast to Highland, gateway to the City Creek road and Rim of the World." The East Highland tablet will read, "25 miles southeast to East Highlands, the buckle of the citrus belt." There will be two tablets bearing, respectively, the inscriptions "To World." The East Highlands tablet of the Santa Fe railway, and "to the highway builders, by officers and men of the Santa Fe railway."

A table will be contributed by the Native Sons of Arrowhead Parlor and also one by three well-known Native Sons now in other fields, bearing appropriate inscriptions. Arthur E. Parris will contribute a table in honor of his father, Col. Fred T. Parris, who built the railway through Cajon Pass. The tables will be distributed in the grove in accordance with the relative geographical location of the towns they stand for. Sixteen tables are thus far assured. There is room and materials for four more. It is hoped that Ontario, Cucamonga and Bloomington will yet come in, as well as one of the towns north of the mountains.

I was half forbidden to disclose the identity of the three absent native sons mentioned in the paragraph above—but I can see no harm in its being known that they are Judge Benjamin F. Bledsoe, Paul Shoup and Charlie Foy.

It is not intended that a table contributed by a certain community shall be reserved for that community, but that all tables shall be free to any one wishing to use them. It is planned, however, that all or part of them may be reserved in advance for any certain day other than Sunday or a holiday by any school, Sunday school, society or group of people wishing to use them.

Materials Donated

The tablets for the tables are being made and donated by the Parker Iron Works of San Bernardino. The galvanized iron hoops which will form the permanent outside reinforcement for the table tops were donated by A. C. Denman, Jr., president of the Southern California Iron and Steel company of Los Angeles. The lumber for the table and seat forms was contributed by the San Bernardino Lumber and Box company and the forms were made without charge by Contractor J. W. Myzelle. The metal forms required were donated by the San Bernardino Hardware company and by the San Bernardino Sheet Metal Works. Substantial contributions of lumber for use in construction work at the camp were made by the Hayward Lumber and Investment company and the Charles R. McCormick Lumber company.

A half dozen or more concrete fireplaces for cooking will be contributed by the United States forest service, which is cooperating in the development of the camp.

Turning now from the concrete structures we come to the ornamental features. There will be a low wall paralleling the highway, and separating it from the grove. There will be two entrances for the driveway which will encircle the grove.

Six stone columns will embellish the wall and will afford places for rectangular tablets carrying inscriptions of welcome from the county of San Bernardino and from the United States forest service. These tablets are being made and donated by the Hanford Iron Works of San Bernardino. In a central gap in the wall will be a massive stone column bearing on its roadside face in a mosaic of beautiful white quartz from Mill creek the words "Camp Cajon." This column will be surmounted by a steel flagpole, 40 feet in height—the gift of Joseph B. Gill, formerly lieutenant and acting governor of Illinois.

Will Open on July 4

At this point I should say that Camp Cajon will be opened to the public on July 4, with rather elaborate ceremonies, a prominent feature of which will be the flag-raising. Judge Rex B. Goodcell will read Charles L. Frazer's masterly poem, "The Flag," with appropriate setting and ceremony. The first flag will be the gift of Marvin J. Newberg of San Bernardino. Others who have asked permission to contribute a flag when a new one is needed are Standish L. Mitchell of Los Angeles, secretary of the Automobile Club of Southern California, and Joseph E. Rich, Judge Rex B. Goodcell and Judge J. W. Curtis of San Bernardino. M. J. Meeker, proprietor of the gasoline and service station already installed at the camp, has volunteered to care for the flag, taking it down each night and in stormy weather.

I have yet to mention some of the most generous contributors to the Camp Cajon project. The California Portland Cement company of Colton, the Golden State Cement company of Oro Grande and the Southwestern Portland Cement company of Victorville have each donated 100 sacks of cement, and at least one of them has said, "If you need more come back and get it." The unexpected expansion of the camp project makes it plain that we shall have to take advantage of the generous offer. To me it is an interesting fact that the cement to be used at the camp is all produced in our own broad county and a tablet will be set in commemoration thereof.

Still More Friends

When I asked Max Green, of the San Bernardino Mountain Auto Stage company if he would contribute the transportation of the cement he replied, "you bet we will. If some of the other truck men want to help, all right. If not, we will haul the whole bunch ourselves." Any one who knows Max will not doubt that he meant it. The stage company's drivers, however, have volunteered to give their time in the hauling of that from Victorville and Oro Grande and the Heap & Heap Truck company will donate the transportation of the Colton installment.

In order to provide pure and cold water for drinking and cooking Geo. M. Cooley will sink a well in the center of the grove and install a hand pump—a modern and sanitary substitute for the "old oaken bucket." A pressure water system will also be installed for the convenience of the public and a drinking trough will be provided for the occasional beast that still travels the highway. The state highway commission is contributing $100 towards this system.

It has been suggested that the proposed rest room and comfort station take the form of a county memorial to the American soldiers and sailors of the great war.

There is in nearby Coyote canyon an abundance of fine blue-gray granite boulders available for the construction of the building, its fireplace and big outside chimney. If 10 patriotic men or women will come forward with $100 each the thing can be done in good shape. Some of our cities are seeking a way to do honor to the war heroes. I feel that a way must be found to erect this important gateway on our greatest transcontinental highway. The automobile club stands ready to contribute $100 for the artistic signs and tablets proposed for the building.

AUTOS CRASH AT CENTRAL AND A ST.

Another serious automobile accident was added to the long list of casualties, which have occurred at the intersection of A and Central avenues, yesterday, when a machine driven by N. J. Roden, of Chino, crashed into an automobile owned and driven by Jesse Tucker, a salesman from Los Angeles. Roden was traveling south on Central avenue while Tucker was going west on A street. Neither driver observed the approach of the other until it was too late to avoid the crash. Tucker was thrown from his seat to the road and suffered a severe scalp wound together with numerous cuts and bruises. The other driver escaped without injury. In the collision the Roden machine was completely wrecked and the other car badly damaged.

MRS. N. ANDERSON COMMITTS SUICIDE

Despondent because of ill health and believed to have been temporarily demented, Mrs. Nils Anderson, wife of Nils Anderson, a resident of Alta Loma district, hanged herself at Woodlake. The body was found suspended from a post in the rear of the Anderson home.

Mrs. E. Atwood, Mrs. Anderson's daughter, who discovered the body, said her mother had made two prior attempts to take her own life during the last two months.

Mrs. Anderson was 52 years of age, a native of Sweden. She is survived by her daughters and husband.

school and in this way the barrier which has for some time stood between the elementary schools and at the high schools could gradually be done away with and instead of 60 per cent to 100 per cent take the high school there would be from 90 per cent to 100 per cent take the higher education work.

E. W. Fischer, athletic director at Chaffey, made an informal talk following Mr. Hill and he brought out ideas along the same line. He stated that it was not the idea of the high schools to take the work of the elementary schools out of the natural channels but rather it was their idea to come in as an inspiration and a help to the teachers. To relieve the teachers of some of their responsibility and to give specialized work was the thing they hoped for. The rest of the afternoon was spent in informal discussion of the problems brought up during the day.

Discussion of the proposition to centralize the many school districts around the high schools of the county was taken up at the meeting which followed the dinner given by the board of education to the trustees of the high schools of the county in the evening. The dinner was served at the high school and was most successful.

Those present Monday night were L. L. Beeman, G. H. Jantzen, city superintendent; Mrs. Grace Stanley, county superintendent of schools; Miss Ida Collins, Hugh L. Dickson, M. E. Dimmock, all of San Bernardino; E. M. Cope, Mrs. U. F. Lewis and H. G. Clement of Redlands; Dr. C. F. Whitmer and Mrs. Florence P. Willetts, of Colton; M. E. Hill and Thomas Nisbet of Upland; Will Green, of Victorville.

NO DECISION IN CHARTER ACTION

There was no decision announced Monday in the petition of J. F. Wheat, county recorder, for a writ of habeas corpus to compel the payment of his May salary warrant. The action was brought to secure a court ruling on the county charter amendment segregating three county offices.

Judge J. W. Curtis and Judge Rex B. Goodell sat en banc. A attorney George W. Hellyer, of Leonard, Surr & Hellyer, presented the authorities an argument in support of his contention that the charter amendment is valid in every particular, and Deputy District Attorney John L. Campbell, representing Auditor S. G. Berger, presented to the court decisions which he said raised a question as to whether the amendment was effective immediately. The people voted that the changes should be made immediately on ratification by the legislature.

OIL EXCITEMENT IN MORENO HILLS

That the Standard Oil company and the Union Oil company are making purchases of land in the Moreno hills, south of Redlands in Riverside county, is reported in Riverside and P. T. Evans and other prominent men of Riverside have located on four sections of land and will hold it pending the tests which it is expected the oil corporations will make.

There is natural gas in the region, but this is not always an indication of oil. Nine or ten years ago a gas pocket was struck and the force of the gas blew the derrick to pieces. Some of the natural gas is being utilized.

The land in which the oil companies are said to be interested is on both sides of the Redlands-Moreno road.

NO ACCIDENT WEEK JUNE 22 TO 28TH

Complete details for staging "no accident week" June 22 to 28 inclusive, have been decided upon by the safety representatives of railroads in the central western region, according to announcement from the offices of the railroad administration today.

Mr. H. A. Adams, regional supervisor of safety, has conferred with about seventy safety officials of the various lines, the meeting having been held in his office in the Burlington building.

It develops that the roads in this jurisdiction have, in the aggregate, approximately three hundred and five thousand (305,000) employees and that each employee is going to be asked to individually do his utmost during a period of seven days to keep from being injured himself, or of being the cause of injuring a fellow-employee.

Bulletins, rallies, moving picture exhibits of an educational nature, personal appeals, and many other forms of getting into close touch with all employees will be utilized and it is estimated that before June 22 there will be few, if any, railroad workers in the central western region who will not be "watching his step" and avoiding personal injury.

This movement, covering as it does a vast territory and affecting an enormous population of high class industrial workers, is said to be causing unusual interest in every city and town in the West.

The "no-accident week" was determined upon by Mr. Hale Holden, regional director of railroads, who believes that the cause of safety among railroad men and the public generally may receive a material impetus as a result of it.

A 6:30 o'clock dinner Tuesday evening, June 24, on the lawn of the Chaffey Union High School, will close the work of the Women's club for the year. All members and their husbands are requested to come.

At a bond election held May 17, Maricopa county, Arizona, voted to issue $4,000,000 for building about 200 miles of hard surfaced roads. Other roads are being built as a part of the state highway system.
